

Hosting Script: What's in the Bag?

“Alright everyone, it’s time for a game that’s part guessing, part creative thinking, and totally baby themed. This one’s called What’s in the Bag? and no, you’re not allowed to shake them!”

How It Works:

“There are ten bags lined up, each with a letter on the front that spells out BABY SHOWER. Inside each one is a baby-related item that starts with that letter. For example, B might be for Bottle... or Bib... or something more random if I was feeling cheeky.”

“Just take a look at the letter and write down your best guess on the answer sheet, no touching, or peeking! Once everyone’s finished, we’ll reveal what’s inside and see who’s got the best baby brain!”

Wrap-Up:

“This game’s a great icebreaker, especially when the guesses get creative. Don’t worry about being right; the more imaginative, the better! We’ll go through the answers together and see who nailed it... and who went completely rogue in the best way possible. There’s a little prize for the top guesser, or maybe just for the most entertaining answer!”
